PLATTERS & DISH PUNTS

The punt is often used as a feature and easily identified as the bottom of a bottle.

Although not every wine bottle has an obvious punt at it's base, many do, and the jury appears to be still out on the why? Although we have found no clear consensus as to the why, we can tell you from our perspective, the bigger the punt the more diverse its use as a raw material, and determines it's 'fit for purpose'. As for the contents... we will leave it for you to judge... - Cindy

Our premium dish punts are cut from the spirit, champagne and handpicked specialty bottles chosed for their unique shape and solid forms.

Alternately the dish punt can be crafted from the bottom section of a wine, sparkling soda or water bottle.

This range may be used to hold snacks, lollies or a myriad of uses, limited only by your imagination. One thing is for certain, it will be a talking point, throughout the home and office.

PLATTERS

Integrate these stylish and practical objects into your home and office decor.

In the first instance we focus on the original bottle's recognizable features being the star characteristic, and ascend to statement pieces, that have little resemblance of their former life.

Each bottle is considered for its aesthetic and technical potential and our craftsmanship and an artistic design approach, ensures the final recycled glass object reflects both form and function. Each bottle expertly transformed into everyday useable objects suitable for servingware, desk accessories, paperweights, or reception and boardroom statement artworks.

Inclusions (eg graphite, sand, iron-ore etc) can be encapsulated within a range of bottles to reference company operations.

Commemorate a special occasion or event and showcase your environmental ethos, by transforming some of your own bottle waste into memorable and useable appreciation gifts for your staff and clients.

Imagine, if when the flowers are gone you still have the vase?

THE VASE COLLECTION

Combine the ancient tradition of giving flowers to mark an occasion with the inclusion of a recycled glass vase.

Include a florist re-fill voucher with your chosen vase to ensure that your gift lives on, long after the initial flowers are gone...

Choose from our extensive off-the shelf options, or discuss solutions to value-add your own bottles.

We can customise your vase without compromising style to ensure it remains in use and remains proudly displayed in your client's or staff's home or office.

Mark a special event and maintain a connection long after your guests have gone home...

Turn your chosen celebratory beverage bottle into a keepsake of the event and continue to reference the occasion with each new flower arrangement.

Choose from our 'Limited' or 'Collectors' range and customised options, including oversize or unusual shaped vases that have stand-alone presence to elevate the style of any flower arrangement.
